Organized sessions

Next to individual paper submissions, we also welcome submissions of pre-organized sessions consisting of three papers. In this case, complete session proposals, which must include: (1) the session title and short description, (2) name of the session convener; (3) three paper titles, authors, and discussants in the proposed order, as well as (4) extended abstracts or full papers to be presented, should be sent by email directly to the Local Organizers (epcs2027@wne.uw.edu.pl). Proposals of sessions will undergo a separate review and selection process.

Wicksell prize

The Wicksell prize, in honour of the Swedish economist Johan Gustaf Knut Wicksell, is awarded to the best paper written and co-authored by researchers under the age of 30 years (as of December 31, 2026). The Wicksell prize is generously sponsored by the European Journal of Political Economy published by Elsevier. Papers nominated to the prize will be subjected to comments of two discussants during the conference.

Reduced fees and waivers for PhD students

A reduced conference fee will be offered for all PhD students upon registration. In addition, the European Journal of Political Economy kindly finances registration fee waivers for young scholars from non-advanced economies. To be eligible one must fulfill the following criteria: (1) the submitted paper must be accepted for presentation by the conference selection committee, (2) the author must be under 35 years of age, (3) the author must work in a country that is not considered an advanced economy (as defined by the IMF).
